

Provide Better Service to the Public and Maximize Budget Usage

Whether local, state or federal, Grooper has experience with simplifying document and data management for government entities. Our system transforms paper documents and electronic data, integrating them into a database to provide power and fully leverage your information like never before.

Government entities across the United States are discovering the power of Grooper. Meeting tight budgets and constituent demands to modernize systems are issues that all governments face. Many agencies are also running a risk by storing millions of documents and records in poor condition or many locations. To lose those documents could possibly translate into millions of wasted dollars and manpower the next time an agency needed them.

Government agencies and divisions need to be able to access their information faster and in new ways. With its capability to capture and organize structured and unstructured documents, Grooper is a single platform suited perfectly to solve government problems and provide value in new, innovative ways.

Our Project Managers and Business Analysts will work with you to integrate Grooper technology directly into your environment. You can also leverage our decades of experience to process information quickly with Grooper as a Service in our Data Migration Center.

---

"Space is a premium here, so being able to scan the paper that we no longer need and have that available electronically at a moment's notice is tremendous value to us. Any time that we can offer up the information quickly and efficiently and accurately, we definitely show return on investment."

- Greg Gann, IT Project Manager,
Sedgwick County, Kansas

---

Possibilities of Leveraging the Power of Grooper

- Decrease time spent on manual indexing
- Convert text from the most complex forms, images, and documents
- Rapid insight to business-critical information for contract analysis
- Enable quicker responses to Freedom of Information Act requests or agency audits
- Integrate seamlessly with your current file systems
- Preserve and digitize historical documents
- Protect or redact sensitive information
- Enhanced legal case preparation through powerful record search abilities
- Provide solutions or improvements to virtually every department

---

“Practically every unit here within our agency uses Grooper on some level. It has cut down on our indexing time by 70 percent.”

- Ryan Freeman-Smith, Manger, Oklahoma Health Care Authority

---

Government Solutions

- Permits
- Financial Records
- Land Records
- Contract Analysis
- Licenses and Certificates
- Large Format Plans and Drawings
- Case Files
- Human Resources
- Accounts Payable
- Historical Abstract Books
- Redact Personal Identifiable Information (PII)
- Micromedia

Government Contracts

- Federal SEWP
- NASA SEWP
- Oklahoma State Contract
- Alabama State Contract

